BIG SPY RING HAS NUCLEUS IN NEW YORK

YOUNG AMERICANS TELL DETAILS IN PARIS

BY ALEXANDER H. UHL
(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Paris, March 20 (AP)—A world-wide spy ring with a recruiting center in New York and formed to deal in military secrets of the United States and other countries was said by authorities tonight to have been revealed during a long grilling of a young American couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz.

The Switzes, natives of East Orange, N. J., and New York, decided to tell what they knew when they realized "the real import of what they were doing," said M. Klotz, their lawyer.

Worked for Soviets

Military secrets of the United States, France, and England were said to have been gathered by the syndicate for Soviet Russia and Germany, and Judge Andre Benon, the magistrate investigating, predicted that an espionage network would be found spread in many countries.

A half dozen arrests were made, including a retired army colonel who, authorities believed, revealed details of secret sessions of the French war school. Numerous other arrests were expected.

Judge Benon indicated that the Switzes would be shown leniency because of their revelations. They have been in separate jails since late in December, when they were arrested with eight others and a quantity of [illegible] and equipments, and documents were seized by police.

Peddled Secrets

Authorities declared that the spy gang peddled military secrets of the United States, France, and England to German and Soviet agents, with Switzerland a clearing house for the agents' activities.

They also charged that Mme. Lida Tchekoloff Stahl, 48 year old Russian linquist and alleged leader of the rang, had sent a model of a secret machine gun to a foreign country.

Mrs. Switz, the former Marjorie Tilley of New York, was described by Klotz as "greatly relieved after easing her mind by making the revelations."

He visited the 22 year old American in the petite Roquette prison, and subsequently told the Associated Press that "the information she had about the case weighed on her mind a considerable time, and only little by little did she become conscious of the gravity of the situation."

The attorney added that "since she told what she knows her moral state is better than at any time since her arrest."

She and her 29 year old aviator husband were questioned for seven hours yesterday by M. Benon. Court attaches said "they confessed all they know about the case."

DUTCH MOURN; QUEEN IS DEAD

Dowager of Netherlands Loved by Rich and Poor Alike

The Hague, March 20 (AP)—The Dowager Queen Emma of the Netherlands, one of the most popular and successful sovereigns in Europe, died of bronchitis today at the age of 75.

The widow of King William III and the mother of Queen Wilhelmina, she had been ill for some time. Her condition became grave a week ago.

Crowds awaiting bulletins before the palace and messages attested to the love of the rich and poor had for her. The Netherlands today was plunged into deep grief by her passing.

Queen Emma was born August 2, 1858. At the age of 20 she became the second wife of the Dutch monarch. Upon his death in 1890 she became regent, and ruled until her daughter came of age and ascended the throne in 1898.

In late years she was in the background of affairs, but her loyal subjects never forgot the kindliness, sincerity, and good works that endeared her to her people while she was on the throne.

Death came peacefully during sleep.

The announcement of her passing was made to the nation in special newspaper editions and over radio stations which subsequently were closed.

Russian Business Small Item, Says Editor In Address

Detroit, March 20 (AP)—Franklin Johnston, editor of the American Conference, told the delegates at the middle-west foreign trade and merchant conference here today that Russia is no more important commercially to the United States now than the Dominican republic.

"If Russia continues its present pace," said Johnston, "it will be 100 years before it will equal Great Britain as a buyer of American goods, and 50 years before it will equal Canada."

BYRD RESCUES TWO AVIATORS

Temperature 15 Below; Little America Has Bad Blizzard

Little America, Antarctica, (via MacKay Radio) March 20 (AP)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd flew today to the rescue of two members of his second Antarctic expedition whose plane was forced down during a heavy fog Saturday, but encountered difficulties himself.

Pilot William C. Bowlin and Wireless Operator Clav Bailey had to come down 15 miles from Little America on their return trip from a supply base, were found asleep in their fur bags in a small tent, near their monoplane.

Only when Byrd and his companion, Pilot William McCormick, pushed open the tent flap did the two marooned fliers awake.

Admiral Byrd and McCormick took off at 6 a. m. to guide a ground party travelling with dog teams.

Byrd's plane was subsequently grounded by engine trouble and the admiral had to return to the main base by dog team to direct plans for the rescue of the relief plane and for the machine it set out to help.

One ground party was dispatched to Bailey and Bowlin, another went to retrieve the Byrd craft, and a third party was standing by the latter plane.

Meanwhile, a tractor party and what is called the main southern party were enroute to supply bases 100 and 150 miles from Little America, which therefore was almost depopulated.

While these operations were proceeding the temperature fell to 15 degrees below zero and a high easterly wind continued unabated. In the shallow basin in which Little America lies it blew 24 miles an hour and on higher ground the velocity was much greater.

Public Works Act Arrives Too Late For April Election

Lansing, Mich., March 20. (AP) The executive office today saw no possibility of consolidating the proposed referendum on the $36,000,000 public works program with local elections April 2 in the event Governor Comstock signs the bonding bill.

Ferris H. Fitch, legal advisor to the governor, said three or four weeks will be required after the bill is enacted to prepare for the referendum. Two weeks of public advertising of the proposal would be required by law. It would take a week or more to print ballots and distribute them. The governor is not expected to receive an enrolled copy of the measure for his signature or rejection until the last of the week.

FRAUD CHARGE AGAINST MAIL LINES ARGUED

HOOVER'S CABINET BROUGHT INTO CONTROVERSY

BY SAM BLEDSOE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Members of President Hoover's cabinet were charged in the senate today with having given "their services to an unlawful and fraudulent" air mail combination.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader, made the charge during another warm exchange on cancellation of private contracts which brought Senator Fess (R. Ohio) to his feet with a quick defense.

Proof Lacking

Fess shouted back at Robinson that proof of illegality about the air mail awards under Walter F. Brown, former postmaster general, was entirely lacking.

This latest outburst of the mail controversy on the senate floor came a short while after Amelia Earhart Putnam, trans-Atlantic aviatrix, had appeared before congressional committees to advocate changes in the administration's air mail bill, saying the aviation industry "is still young and it should not be killed before it develops."

Senator Robinson, who has stoutly asserted the administration did its duty in cancelling the mail contracts, began the tilt with Fess by announcing on the floor that Andrew W. Mellon "took exception to a statement in my address of last Thursday."

Mellons Own Stock

He quoted from a letter he had received from the former secretary of the treasury:

"In your speech x x x you refer to the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries, Inc., as a 'strong political factor in Pennsylvania' and state that 'the Mellons were prominent stockholders and officers in that company.' "

Mellon said his family owned only inconsequential amounts of stock in the Pittsburgh aviation company.

"I hereby present evidence," Robinson replied, "which in my judgement conclusively establishes the accuracy of both the statements of which Mr. Mellon complains."

But Fess was far from convinced. He said the Mellon family owned only 2,400 of the 26,000 shares issued by the aviation concern.

"If five per cent of the stock would be regarded as a controlling influence," Fess said, "then I don't know what a controlling influence is. When the Mellon family desires to control anything, it doesn't stop at five per cent."

"It is pitiable," he told Robison, "to what lengths some public men will go to denounce those who disagree with them on matters of public policy."

PLEADS FOR FAIRNESS

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Expressing confidence in President Roosevelt, Colonel Eddie Rickenbacker said tonight he felt "the air mail will be put back into the hands of the commercial companies, and I believe on terms that will undertake to be fair to the companies and to the government and that will also be fair to the country."

The address of America's foremost World war ace before the Washington Board of Trade was regarded as an elaboration of remarks before the senate postoffice committee last week. He called then for the elimination from the president's official family of "those traitorous elements," which, he said, had misadvised the chief executive on air mail and had led to contract cancellation.

Backwoods Airmail Not Worried Over Washington Mixup

Baudette, Minn., March 20. (AP)—Over the desolate wilderness of the lake of the woods to the northernmost postoffice in the United States, Pete Klimek is still flying the mail.

He is the holder of one of the few uncancelled commercial airmail contracts.

The youthful plier, who gets $5,000 a year from the government, carries mail by plane from here to isolated Penasse, Minn., a settlement of 450 persons in the "northwest angle," which appears on maps as a protuberance on the northern edge of Minnesota.

In 35 or 40 minutes by plane he covers the 75 miles between here and Penasse, a distance requiring two days by dog sled—the only other method of reaching the place in winter. His planes are equipped with skiis in winter and he uses a seaplane in the summer.

Wholesale abrogation of airmail contracts didn't perturb Klimek.

"There's nothing to investigate here," he said, "except probably muskellunge fishing."

SMALL NATIONS SEEKING TRADE

Reciprocal Treaties Are Anticipated in Turkey, Poland, Switzerland

London, March 20—New moves by the United States toward the negotiation of reciprocal treaties with a number of the smaller countries of Europe are expected when President Roosevelt puts his tariff program into operation, it was said here today.

Among the countries anticipating such action are Poland, Turkey, Switzerland and the Scandinavian group. Of the latter, Sweden has manifested probably the most interest.

Encouraged by an increase in exports to the United States in 1933, Sweden is looking hopefully in the direction of Washington for an offer by the Americans to arrange a trade pact which will bring about greater mutual business.

At the same time that Sweden increased its exports to America, it cut its shipments to European points. Highly pleased with the change of direction, and believing it means better times for the nation, the Swedish commercial leaders say that President Roosevelt will find a hearty reaction to any action he may take regarding a new trade treaty.

Telephone Calls Catch Kidnapers Of D. I. D.Kelley

St. Louis, March 20 (AP)—Anonymous telephone calls today landed three of the six alleged kidnapers of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, abducted in 1931, in the St. Louis county jail shortly before their scheduled appearances in court.

They were Angelo Rosegrant, Bart Davit and John C. Johnson, indicted with three others last week. The prosecutors' office announced applications for bond would be resisted because the charge is punishable by death.

Rosegrant and Bart Davit were arrested in different St. Louis suburbs.

Officers said they believed the telephone "tips" had been arranged by the suspects, who did not want to surrender voluntarily.

Bean Farmers Not In Favor Of Crop Reduction Scheme

Lansing, Mich., March 20 (AP)—A statement by the Michigan crop reporting service today indicated that bean farmers of the state will bolt against the national drive for reduced acreage this year.

The service said present indications are for a 20 per cent increase in the Michigan bean acreage, the equivalent of 612,000 acres. If the intentions are carried out, they would mean the largest acreage since 1930 when 635,000 acres were harvested.

Potatoes — Michigan's other leading cash crop—are also due for an increased acreage, the report said. Indications are for a 5 per cent boost with prospects for 278,000 acres against 265,000 last year, 260,000 in 1932, and 250,000 in 1931.

Aside from potatoes and beans, farmers indicated they will not diverge far from past harvest figures. Other indicated acreages are: Corn, 96 per cent of the 1933 harvest; spring wheat, 100 per cent; oats, 107 per cent; barley, 98 per cent; and all time hay, 99 per cent. If the intentions are carried out, the acreages would bring corn close to the five-year average for 1928-1932 but would result in an oats acreage 13 per cent below normal, and a barley output 8 per cent under average figures.

The report said that other states planned an increase in their bean and potato acreages.

PRESENT PAY IS CONTINUED BY RAILROADS

AUTOMOBILE PLANT WALKOUT IS DEFERRED

BY ELTON C. FAY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, March 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt today called for peace parleys in the railroad and automobile labor disputes to quiet strike threats that have arisen to menace the recovery program.

His request brought from railroad managers an immediate agreement to further conferences and acceptance of a presidential proposal that the present wages be continued in that industry for another six months. There was no immediate announcement of workers reaction.

Leaders Agree

To the automobile workers, Mr. Roosevelt sent a terse request that the strike which had been called for tomorrow be held off until the leaders of that industry could come to Washington for a conference with him. The auto leaders agreed late today.

Both presidential messages suggested the urgency for settlement.

The president told the automobile workers that "in the public interest" he was "constrained to request you to withhold strike action called for this afternoon."

To the railroad employers and employes he said:

"The active prosecution of the controversy at the present time would have a most disturbing and unfortunate influence."

The proposal of the president had suggested that the present ten per cent [illegible] be extended for six months beyond the existing fixed expiration date of June 30.

Demand Withdrawn

The railroad operators had proposed to the unions that the wage reduction, instead of being continued at ten per cent below the basic pay rate be fixed at 15 per cent.

The rail employes today asked for a 20 per cent increase above their present wage scale, or ten per cent above the amount they were receiving when the present cut went into effect.

The rail managers, in their communication to Mr. Roosevelt today, however, withdrew their proposal for the extra five per cent pay cut.

Hardly had the presidential message to the automobile workers been cleared from the White House when William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called upon the automobile workers to abide by Mr. Roosevelt's request for a truce in the impending strike.

Workers Protested

Green's telegram to William Collins, a labor organized at Detroit said:

"It is my opinion that the best interests of the automobile workers will be served through prompt and sincere compliance with the president's request. In the interest of the common good, I respectfully urge that the automobile workers

Stack and Picard At Odds On Liquor Commission Adult

Lansing, Mich., March 20 (AP)—The controversy between Auditor General John K. Stack, Jr., and Chairman Frank A. Picard, of the state liquor control commission, was rekindled today with a threat by the former to go into court to force further accounting information from the commission.

Stack and Picard made public an interchange of correspondence. The latter said he considered the recent commission's report more complete than the law requires. Stack answered that he was not satisfied with the report.

The auditor general said he will ask for an audit of the commission's books and an inventory of equipment and liquor stocks. He said he will insist the information be filed monthly beginning in April. A physical inventory, Stack insisted, is necessary to check funds apportioned to school districts.

Code Is Revised For Copper Trade

Washington, March 20 (AP)—The copper industry, after a stormy session with NRA officials, sought tonight to adjust internal differences, with eventual approval of a modified version of the administration's copper code indicated.

The code, presented last week to the industry by Deputy Recovery Administrator H. O. King, would set up a total allowable production of 20,500 tons per month to be allocated proportionately to mining companies on the basis of their production capacities and a total allowable of 9,500 tons for producers of secondary copper.

Where last week, prior to submission of the administration's code, virtually the whole industry was opposed to inclusion of a fixed sales control plan in the code, today only the Anaconda Copper Mining company and its affiliates voice opposition.

Stronger Kidnaping Precautions Sought

Washington, March 20 (AP)—Registration of machine guns and strengthening of the Lindbergh anti-kidnaping law were asked today by Attorney General Cummings as the only way of dealing with highly organized criminals whose interstate operations are beyond the reach of local enforcement agencies.

Making it clear he did not propose having the federal government assume responsibility of law enforcement properly belonging to the states, the attorney general told the house judiciary committee it must be realized that in this day of high-speed transportation, good roads and other facilities "an ordinary local police force, no matter how intelligent, earnest or honest, is perfectly helpless."

William P. Lovett, secretary of the Detroit Citizens League said it would take 165,000 signatures on a petition to get the amendment before the voters.

Ruling Required To Sell Whisky, Through Mails

Detroit, March 20. (AP)—Frank A. Picard, chairman of the Michigan liquor control commission, tonight awaited a ruling from the attorney general's office on whether the state can legally enter the mail order liquor business.

Picard asked for the ruling after John B. Stackpole, superintendent of mails in the Detroit postoffice, announced that federal statute prevents sending liquor through the mails and that he would confiscate any sent through the postoffice here.

Picard planned to establish mail order liquor centers to distribute rare brands of liquor not handled by the state stores. Stackpole said the federal law establishes a prison term of not more than two years or a fine not to exceed $1,000 for violation of the mail law.

Hollywood Gossip

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

Hollywood—Brought here from Germany to write some of the music and lyrics for "I Am Suzanne" (which he did), Frederick Hollander, an Englishman with a German accent, found studio ways trying, quit, went into business for himself.

His business is the Tingel-Tangel theater, an intimate, sophisticated, Continental-type revue which Hollander hopes will capture the fancy of movieland. In Germany and other European countries, his Tingel-Tangel (pronounced tongel) ventures are famous.

Hollander rented an extinct night club, put 202 seats in it and a smallish stage. He writes the book, lyrics and music, directs and plays first piano. The orchestra consists of two pianos and a set of drums.

BAR A FEATURE

Hollander's aides, mostly European players recruited from the ranks of Hollywood unknowns, paint scenery, make costumes, raise and lower the curtains and tend bar. The bar is a feature of the theater. At it is served—free of charge—during a thirty minute intermission, sandwiches and tea, coffee, cocoa or beer. No hard liquor, since a California license costs too much.

The show consists of about 20 acts, all more or less satirical. Tingel-Tangel has no particular meaning, says Hollander, except tingling musical accompaniment. More a catchy phrase than anything.

Interested in the endeavor to give Hollywood a new kind of entertainment is Francis Lederer, whose fiancee, Steffi Duan, is a member of the cast.

Sea Island, Ga., (AP)—Some of America's earliest Christian churches may crumble to dust unless steps are taken to arrest time's stubborn attack.

Nearly four centuries ago the early Spaniards built them along the Georgia coast, holding that the cross and the sword must go hand in hand to found a new empire. Today funds are sought to finance a preservation program.

Some historians say they antedate the Spanish missions in California by 200 years or more. They had been standing nearly half a century when the first Protestant church was built by the English colonists at Jamestown.

A few walls, constructed of an oyster shell and mortar mixture, have defied time's ravages so far. But they threaten to crumble unless bolstered.

No definite movement to preserve the ruins was made until J. J. Haverty, state chairman of the Civil Works administration's art committee, dispatched an expedition to make maps of their location and compile historical data relating to their founding. He hoped funds would be forthcoming from the CWA or some other source for a program of restoration.

St. Catherines Oldest

The oldest of the missions was established on St. Catherines island in 1566 by Menendez de Avilles, founder of St. Augustine, Fla. Others were built rapidly as the Spaniards extended their domain northward to Port Royal, South Carolina.

Priests of the Jesuit order were in charge at the beginning. But many were killed, and the others were put to rout in an Indian uprising about 1570.

Three years later, however, the Franciscan order reclaimed the missions and built others. They continued their gospel work among the Indians until the English drove the Spaniards back into Florida a few years after General James Oglethorpe founded the colony of Georgia in 1732. Thereafter the missions were abandoned.

Scientists now can measure the heat generated in nerves by impulses passing through them.

and their representatives carry out the president's request.

"The interests of the automobile workers will be fully protected, their cause promoted, and the justice to which they are entitled will be more quickly realized through a whole-hearted and sincere response to the president's recommendations."

Green said the interests of the workers should be adequately represented at the conference.

Collins, earlier had announced that union officials intended to carry out plans for strikes at Detroit, Flint, Pontiac and Lansing plants unless "favorable" reports were received from the New York meeting of manufacturers.

Willing to Conform

He had estimated that 44,000 men would leave their machines at 9 a. m. tomorrow unless a compromise came.

The acceptance by the railroad managers of Mr. Roosevelt's proposal was contained in a letter to the president over the signature of the managers' conference committee chairman, W. F. Thiehoff. Thiehoff expressed, on behalf of the operators, a "willingness to conform to the program set forth in your letter and to exert our best efforts to reach an agreement in respect thereto."

Thiehoff, in a letter to A. F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association, said, after mentioning withdrawal of the 15 per cent proposal that this agreement for an extension of time would "avoid the necessity for further negotiations and meetings throughout the year 1934 and yet give to you and us an opportunity for orderly procedure thereafter if that should become necessary under conditions then existing."

The labor men, in their request for a 20 per cent increase, denied a statement by the managers that they were seeking "peak rates" and said the managers' reference to 1929 pay being "peak rates" was erroneous.

The union men informed the managers that "we have thus far refrained from requesting the increase in basic rates of pay amply justified by current economic developments' and added that "if you are determined to prosecute the controversy you have instituted, any reason for deferring our request is removed."

The unrest in the automotive industry had its reflection on the stock market during the day, where automobile stocks sagged.

The two days of conferences at New York had brought from the automobile manufacturers, the brief statement that "progress is being made." Hugh S. Johnson went to New York Saturday night after signs of a crisis in negotiations here had become evident and had taken part in frequent conferences there.

During these developments today, Representative Weidman (D-Mich) introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the automobile industry's treatment of labor.

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt stepped into the breach between capital and labor Tuesday, won a promise from the railroads of an extension of present wages until next Jan. 1 and halted momentarily the plans of 50,000 automotive workers to strike Wednesday.

Leading automobile manufacturers, after a conference with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson at New York, entrained for Washington to chat at the White House over reconciliation of differences with the American Federation of Labor.

Armistice at Pontiac

Adamant in demands for recognition of federation union, William Green, federation president, agreed to defer until Thursday the strike that would empty Michigan automobile plants of 44,000 workers and 7,000 more from Cleveland factories.

Acting upon the president's request, the central committee of the Auto Workers Union meeting at Pontiac, Mich., speedily voted unanimously for the truce.

The action at Pontiac presaged similar agreement to withhold strikes in tthe Ohio territory where Cleveland labor leaders said they expected to follow the decision of union heads in Michigan.

Labor Wants Increase

Mr. Roosevelt, disappointed in the failure of railroad executives and brotherhood presidents to narrow their breach, warned that he might have to appoint a commission to examine railway wages in the public interest.

Labor had told the railroad managers they must have a raise of 20 per cent over present salary checks. Late in the day the railway executives, who had held out for a 15 per cent basic cut, accepted the president's suggestion that current wages be extended until Jan. 1, 1935.

The government was active on other fronts, meanwhile, in combating industrial discontent.

The department of justice filed suit in Delaware federal court charging the Weirton Steel company with violating the NRA and the steel code and asked an injunction to prohibit dismissal of employes because of union affiliation.

Settlement of a wage dispute between the Delaware & Hudson railroad and employes seemed imminent as a presidential fact finding commission entered private conferences with executives and men.

In congress a resolution was introduced asking immediate inquiry into working conditions in the automobile field, and Rep. Blanton (D-Tex) charged the American Federation of Labor with selfishness and coercion.

Ready to Quit

Despite the Roosevelt intervention, 900 men walked out of the Bower Roller Bearing company plant at Detroit, protesting alleged violation of an agreement for recognition of their union.

At Cleveland 400 paint and varnish workers were on strike, 7,000 automobile employes were awaiting the word to quit and the secretary of the Cleveland Metal Trades Council said the strike would begin Wednesday unless the White House requested a delay.

Workers at the Edward G. Budd factory in Philadelphia cast their ballots on a choice of union representation.

Brick layers and stone setters striking at St. Louis halted work on a federal building. Their dispute was over salaries.

Former employes of the Penn Electric Switch company at Des Moines numbering about 100, peacefully picketed the plant to persuade non-union workers to quit. The company said they were laid off temporarily because of curtailed production schedules.

Jobless millinery workers at Los Angeles hunted for openings when a strike at 70 shops employing 2,000 was decreed. Result: hairpulling among strikes, workers and workless.

Already on strike in Nash and Seaman body plants in Wisconsin cities were 4,300 workers, and 2,000 more are waiting for the signal at Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants in Janesville; 700 at the Waukesha Motors company, 75 at Sterling Motor Truck Co., Milwaukee, ad 50 at the Milwaukee Ford plant.

The Los Angeles millinery strike, however, was short-lived. Conciliators said agreement was reached to end the strike. The agreement was reported as giving workers increased wages and reduced hours while the manufacturers refused to recognize the closed shop principle.

REQUEST DATA ON PULPWOOD

To Study Possibilitities for Making Country Self-Sustaining

Washington—The senate has agreed to Sen. Frederick Hale's resolution asking the secretary of agriculture to furnish the senate with information regarding the possibility of making the United States self-supporting as to pulpwood, pulp and paper.

The resolution asks for information as to:

1. The extent to which the United States now depends upon imports of pulpwood, pulp and paper to meet national requirements.

2. Whether and to what extent is it now possible with known pulp and paper processes to supply all of the pulpwood needed to meet national pulp and paper requirements from United States' forests.

Would It Retard Conservation?

3. What immediate adjustments and what long range program of forest conservation should be undertaken by the federal government, the states, the pulp and paper industry and the private owners of forest lands to make the United States so self-supporting.

4. Whether such a program of self-support would advance or retard the program of forest conservation in this country.

The resolution entails no new investigation since the forest service has made an extensive survey and has compiled the information.

Speaking on behalf of his resolution the Maine senator said:

"Recently much has been said about the pulpwood, pulp and paper industries being failing industries, and it has frequently been stated that if we are to preserve our fast-vanishing soft-wood forests we have got to depend largely upon foreign production.

Maine Supplies Much Newsprint

"In the state of Maine, where I live, the pulp, paper and newsprint industries are the principal industries of the state, which supplies about one-half the newsprint production in this country and about 20 per cent of woodpulp production. Through a careful system of cutting our spruce, our fir and our hemlock forests, instead of vanishing, are increasing, and our available supply of pulpwood, instead of diminishing, is increasing.

"Through improvements and modern methods of manufacturing and using wood pulp, it is not improbable that through the development of this product in the, southern and northwestern states, the business can be put on a basis where the entire supply for the United States can be produced in this country without sacrificing our forests."

Copper Country Is Interested in Scrugham Proposal

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., March 20.—Representative James W. Frank's district is vitally interested in the proposal of Representative James Scrugham (D., Nev.) for a definite program of mineral conservation, Scrugham told the house of representatives Friday.

After outlining his plan the Nevada representative presented a list of congressmen in whose districts lie dorman mineral resources, with a list of the various metals mined which are needed for government reserve stocks, as recommended by the secretary of war.

For Frank's district, the list names copper.

Scrugham's proposal is briefly that the government shall purchase at current market prices newly mined metals except gold, silver and iron produced by any domestic mining operation which, after specific authorization by the government shall have produced the metal eligible for government purchase by hiring a specified number of unemployed workers; and that such newly mined metal shall be delivered to the army for storage subject to use or sale only in event of a war emergency.

LIQUOR COMISH TO AID POLICE

Special Undercover Men Will Be Furnished to Get Evidence

The Michigan liquor control commission will furnish undercover men to aid local sheriff's and police departments to obtain evidence against those engaged in the illicit liquor traffic, W. E. Kuizel, member of the enforcement division, stated yesterday. Kuizel returned to Lansing last evening after spending the past week in the upper peninsula conducting an educational program to acquaint the public with various phases of the new state liquor law.

The state official declared that the commission is determined to enforce the law and will back up local enforcement officers to the fullest extent in the exercise of their duties. He advised local officers to concentrate their efforts for the time being in the stamping out of the moonshine traffic. Reduction in prices of legal liquors, however, will tend to cut down the demand for the bootleg liquor, which he said is largely of poisonous nature.

Mr. Kuizel emphasized that restaurants and hotels, handling beer, wines and spirits, may serve until 2 a. m., excepting on Sundays when only beer and light wines may be sold. While serving of drinks must stop at 2 a. m., the restaurants are allowed an extra half hour to permit guests to finish their drinks or meals, but tables must be cleared off and the establishments vacated by 2:30 p. m., he said. Bona-fide all night restaurants, of course, may serve meals at any time, but the serving of drinks at such establishments also must stop at 2 a. m. and the drinking of liquor, served before that deadline, must not continue beyond 2:30 a. m.

Floorshows and other entertainment also must stop at 2 a. m., but dancing by couples may continue until 2:30 a. m. in these licensed liquor establishments.

Mr. Kuizel said that patrons of blind pigs are subject to arrest on a misdemeanor charge under the state law. Other offenses classed as misdemeanors, punishable by a fine of not more than $500 and more than six months in jail, are drinking of liquor in unlicensed public places and highways, drunkenness and indecent language. Manufacture and sale of illegal liquor is classed as a felony, the penalty for which is maximum fine of $1,000 and a maximum prison sentence of one year.

"FIRE TRAITORS"

That President Roosevelt should "pudge his official family of those traitorous elements" that had advised him in cancelling air mail contracts, was urged by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, World War ace, when, as shown in this dramatic pose, he testified before the senate committee on postoffices on a bill for permanent air mail legislation.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

"Hi, Nellie" and "Social Register" will be shown again at the Delft theatre today and tomorrow in a double feature program.

A new Paul Muni was revealed yesterday on the screen of the Delft Theatre, when this star's latest Warner Bros. production, "Hi, Nellie" had its first showing there.

Not only a new Paul Muni—but an astonishing one. This forceful dramatic star, whose former pictures, such as "I Am A Fugitive From A Chain Gang," "Scarface" and "The World Changes," have been screen sensations in the realm of the serious and the tragic, has at last turned to comedy. And what a comedian he is, you'll have to discover for yourself. The same rynamic and powerful qualities are there—the qualities that made "I Am a Fugitive," for example, an unforgettable emotional and cinematic experience.

The screen interpretation of John Emerson's and Anita Loos' highly successful stage play, "Social Register" starring Colleen Moore is the current attraction at the Delft Theatre.

Serving Miss Moore as her second starring vehicle since her return to the screen, following a long retirement, "Social Register" is rightfully described as an hilarious comedy, although it is properly balanced with a touch of romantic drama. With a supporting cast of featured players, each with an individual following, the picture is designed to entertain the classes and the masses. Charles Winninger, Pauline Frederick, Alexander Kirkland, Robert Benchley, Ross Alexander and Margaret Livingston are the principals in addition to Miss Moore.

GUARANTEE IS NEARER

FEDERAL government guarantee of the principal as well as the interest of Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds, approached a step nearer at Washington on Monday when the house passed the measure without a record vote being necessary. Guarantee of the principal of home loan bonds, being offered to holders of home mortgages, would not only establish a permanent and stable value for those bonds but would make far easier of accomplishment the work of bringing relief to distressed owners of mortgaged homes.

It has been the absence of government guarantee of the principal of these bonds that has influenced many private mortgage owners to hesitate in closing negotiations for the exchange of securities, so necessary to the success of the plan. This objection now seems in fair way toward definite removal.

Entirely beside the point and rather difficult to understand was the jockeying in the senate on Monday over a measure that would bar political considerations from appointments to Home Owner Loan Corporation boards and employes. After the senate had voted 49 to 33 to make such boards and personnel non-partisan, senate Democrats apparently felt, for some unexplained reason, they had been duped and an effort to reconsider the previous action was only lost by a vote of 35 to 34.

The proposal to extend government guarantee to the principal of home loan bonds, now goes to the senate for action and whether the senate skirmish of Monday will effect the vote on the important question now before that body, remains to be determined.

APPLY THE SCREWS

THAT Democratic congressmen at Washington are not going to be permitted by the administration to turn insurgents, without a determined effort to force them into line behind President Roosevelt's program, has been revealed at the national capital.

Speaker Rainey, of the house, let it be known on Monday that a list is being compiled of Democratic congressmen who even occasionally stray from the fold and vote in opposition to administration proposals. Just what the administration intends to do about it is not disclosed but those whose names find places on the list are likely to be acquainted fully as to just what the administration plans may be in that regard. At the same time it was revealed that Republicans who have "gone along" with the administration on important legislative proposals, are being assured that more than passive opposition will not be displayed by the administration to their campaigns for reelection this fall.

In other words "hoss tradin'" is to be the price of a seat among the mighty.

TO EXTEND SERVICE

ESCANABA has been designated as one of five cities in Michigan in which the state liquor commission plans to established mail order liquor stores. While definite plans of the commission have not been made public, it is likely that in Escanaba the mail order department will be made a part of either the local retail store or of the upper peninsula warehouse setup that will begin to function, with the completion of remodeling work at the Wolverine Motor Company building, which is to house all of the commission activities in this city.

The plan announced at Lansing contemplates the placing of trained mail order experts in charge of liquor mail order stores, that are to be opened in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Saginaw and Escanaba, representing an extension of the state commission's plan to make legal liquor available to residents of communities in which neither state stores nor licensed vendors are established.

The only criticism to which the plan might be open, is that in view of the fact that present employes of state stores in most communities are not over-worked, with considerable logic and at considerable saving in expense, some present employe might be designated and rather easily trained for the new work that is planned, rather than add more employes to the commission's payroll.

LABOR, MUST CLEAN HOUSE

SOME sort of showdown in the field of labor relations seems just ahead. The National Recovery Administration prepares to tackle the company union issue, Congress debates the Wagner labor board bill, and industrialists flock to Washington to protest both measures.

And the whole business puts upon organized labor the heaviest responsibility it has had in years.

Organized labor, unless all signs fail, is about to be given more power than it ever has had before. Its Magna Charta is in the making these days. What is it going to do with it?

It is not exactly a secret that there are labor organizations whose officials are more interested in lining their own pockets than in advancing the cause of the men they are supposed to represent; that there are cases in which labor unions have been turned into unscrupulous rackets by designing men; that selfishness, greed, and stupidity have in some instances given both employers and employees reason to distrust the labor organizer.

Such things do more to retard the cause of labor than all the hard-boiled employers in the country. Unless they can be eliminated, the current drive to give labor a new freedom cannot, in the long run, do labor any good.

They are evils that can be corrected by nobody but the leaders and the rank and file of organized labor.

It often is said that public office is a public trust. The same thing applies to the job of representing organized workingmen.

The man who has such a position not only speaks for the legitimate aspirations of his fellow workers; he also occupies an exceedingly important position in the industrial setup of the country as a whole, and this position evidently is going to be more important in the future than in the past.

The intelligent and honorable labor leader—and there are many such—can do a great work in the years just ahead of us.

But the labor movement no longer can afford to carry the racketeer, the self-seeker, the chiseler, the man who plays both ends against the middle for the sake of his own bank account.

It's up to labor to clean house. If the unions are to get new rights, they must recognize the responsibilities that go with them.

THE LONGER LIFE

DR. C. W. CRILE, noted Cleveland surgeon, tells a Los Angeles audience that, with proper attention to health, there is no reason why a man should not extend his active career to the age of 80 or beyond.

Frequent physical examinations, he says, would reveal failing capacities of vital organs and would make it possible for remedial steps to be taken.

All of which, of course, is highly encouraging; but it is just one more instance in which our scientific knowledge seems to have outrun our social sense.

What is the use of enabling a man to keep working to the age of 80, if industry and business decide that the man over 50 is too old for a job?

Unless we revise the idiotic notion that a man's usefulness ends with middle age, there is small use in extending his active life span.

Iowa State University has installed easy chairs for students. The professors should stand up, so that at least they will remain awake.

The Romantic Runaway

(By NEA Service) BY KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

CHAPTER XVII

The ancient automobile moved forward in a manner suggesting the gait of a startled jack-rabbit.

"How long will it take to reach Havana?" Pablito asked Pedro, the driver.

An unusually severe jolt prevented an immediate answer. Then Pedro turned, smiling and letting the car take its course, if nothing happened to the interior of the vehicle, Pedro said, if they did not hit anything and God being willing, they should reach Havana in four hours or less.

Beau, looking more frightened than at any time before, groaned aloud and petitioned heaven for help. He did not know what Pedro had said. He only knew this was "one helluva ride."

Lottie, sitting between Beau and Pablito, slipped her hand into Pablito's. He let it rest there. The more he saw of the girl the more he pitied her. Moreover he was lonely. At length her head dropped to his shoulder, bouncing up again at every jolt in the road. Pablito slipped his arm around her shoulders.

"You're one of us now," she told him.

"I guess I am," he agreed miserably.

"Honey, look at the stars," Lottie said suddenly. "I never seen so many in all my life! They're swell, aren't they?"

A moment later she went on, "And do you notice the way the earth smells?" Lottie sniffed deeply and Pablito, following her example, found the turmoil of his spirit to be a little quieted. Cuba, he thought, was a wonderful land. How Estelle would love all this! Pablito, thinking this, drew away from Lottie. She sat, hurt and chilled. But with time, she decided, she could win him. She would work for that and nothing else.

She turned to Beau then and laid her head on his shoulder. Beau slipped an arm around her, patted her upper arm and yawned widely.

She'd get Pablito, Lottie vowed again, her head on Beau's shoulder. She closed her eyes then to say an intense prayer.

Beau engaged rooms for the trio at La Florida, a hotel in the old and crowded section of Havana, facing the narrow and famous street of small shops that is known as Obispo. Lottie went to her room at once and Beau, seemingly wholly at ease and only casually interested, settled in a deep, leather-covered chair in the lobby to look over the situation.

Two Americans sat near him, talking of "the vacuum cleaner game." They rolled their thick cigars from one side of their mouths to the other and their voices rose offensively loud.

None of Field's friends, Beau realized as he had before, were at all likely to come here. They would choose hotels where the poorest food in Havana is served condescendingly and at the largest prices. Yes, he and Lottie and Pablito were safe! Comfortable and free from anxiety, he let his mind wander. He imagined Lottie could in less than 10 minutes remove from the vacuum cleaner salesmen their gold cigar cutters and lighters. He smiled a little, his eyes on the unsuspecting salesmen.

Pablito had wandered to the wide doorway leading into the narrow street. He turned suddenly and moved to Beau's side. "I'm going out for a while," he said.

"Are you dead sure about that?" Beau asked menacingly.

"Yes. You can't stop me and it will go hard with you if you try."

"Oh, is that so? Say, you needn't get so ugly."

"I don't mean to be ugly, but I'm going to go where I please."

"Try to give us the slip," Beau threatened, "and you'll wish you hadn't. See? And we can do it, too! Me and Lottie, we know how."

Pablito nodded shortly and turned toward the door.

* * *

Outside Havana was breathing less quickly than it did by day. A breeze from the water fluttered those awnings that had not been raised at nightfall and groups of young Cubans stood here and there on the narrow pavement, swinging canes or leaning on them, staring lazily and awaiting "the adventure."

Large, handsome motor cars followed ramshackle ones. Here and there above heaped stones or molded concrete Pablito, walking, saw the foliage of some tropic tree or thick-trunked, big-leafed vine. He had not imagined that any land so close to the states could seem so far from it, so entrancingly foreign and so pulsing with a wholly Latin gaiety. But the softness of the air, the laughter he heard and the inviting glances from deep brown eyes only mocked him.

He reached the edge of the Parque Central and here signaled the driver of an automobile that he judged to be for hire. The automobile had lace curtains at its windows, lace on the backs of the seats and a vase holding amazingly red paper flowers.

"La Mirasol," Pablito ordered, stepping in.

"La Mirasol, Senor," the driver repeated. The car leaned toward Pablito as he set one foot on the step but righted itself when he was inside. Then they were off. The car sped through the streets with that speed which always amazes and terrifies newcomers to Havana, taking sharp corners on two wheels, bearing down menacingly upon other cars and then stopping abruptly just as collision seemed inevitable. Once stopped it seemed to throb impatiently until the way was again clear.

The walls that so often rose abruptly from the narrow streets had a look of age and of utter solidity. Once Pablito saw a girl leaning over a grilled iron balustrade and below her a man, his head bared. Snatches of song came to him, sweet in themselves but with sweetness increased by the soft blackness of the night, by that marvelous stage setting which is Havana and by the city's pervasive feeling of light-hearted, thrillingly romantic happiness.

"If one were even half happy it would charm," Pablito thought heavily.

* * *

La Mirasol proved to be a tawdry hostelry near the docks where houses and buildings thinned to present a much less picturesque effect and where the salt water crept into the night air, leaving it damp. Pablito told the chauffeur to wait for him and went into the place.

He found himself in a big room with a high ceiling, stucco walls and a tiled floor. There were toothpicks in a blue glass near the register on the yellow oak desk. A vase in which Havana's sweet roses were mercilessly crowded stood close to a tray of ink-spattering pens. On the wall back of the desk with a flamboyantly-colored chromo of the Virgin and Child with an advertising poster near by. Between these, fastened to the wall by pins that had grown rusty, were unclaimed letters. Some of them had been there 10 years; others only eight, four or two.

Pablito waited. The proprietor was occupied with the cutting of his finger nails. "Senor, but a short moment," he said. Pablito waited longer.

Then the man moved toward him and Pablito, in a voice that trembled in spite of his best intentions, described Norris Noyes. The proprietor shook his head solemnly and called his daughter,

LYRICS OF LIFE

A SMALL TOWN BOY

A small town boy becomes a big town man,
And many men may wonder what the plan
The fellow followed when he crossed the moat
And stormed the gate and blew the bugle note
That razed the wall, and, as the granite fell,
Took street and square and lofty citadel.
A small town boy, I've sat and talked to them,
And they have told me all their stratagem.

They did not need authorities to search;
They learned their ethics in some little church.
They knocked upon no merchant prince's door;
They learned their trading in some little store.
They did not wait alone the great to greet;
They knew mankind upon some little street;
They gained their fortunes not by chance or gift;
They long had known the principles of thrift.

From their successes I have learned the truth:
The big town man was once a small town youth.
A mother loved him, and a father taught,
A little school inspired some noble thought,
He rose to wealth and eminence upon
Some safe foundation fashioned in youth's dawn.
For big town men have said to me with joy,
"What, me?—oh, I was just a small town boy."

A convention that was preceded and punctured by dramatic situations, chief of which was the refusal of Mayor O. P. Chatfield to recognize Ald. Edward Smith nominated as the mayor's party candidate for alderman from the Sixth ward, last night nominated the Citizens party ticket for city offices. After the smoke of the battle, staged at the city hall had rifled away the following ticket was placed in nomination: Mayor, O. P. Chatfield; City Clerk, Albert J. Pepin; City Treasurer, James Tolan and Justice of the Peace, Emil Glaser.

White Collar Women Rejoice

Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman

In line with the jaunty slogan, "Confidence," adopted as the battle cry of 1934 National Business Women's Week, 10,000 white-collar women, some of whom have been out of work for as long as three years, are rejoicing in new, full-time jobs found for them by members of their local business and professional women's clubs.

In fact, according to Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which sponsors Business Women's Week, beginning March 12, the goal of 10,000 jobs has actually been over-reached.

Jobs Go Begging

Most clubs have obtained double and even triple their quota of eight jobs, and some have done far better. Only one real failure has been reported, and that is for an almost incredible reason.

The Las Vegas, Nev., club, Mrs. Bowman declares, can't find any unemployed women! There are plenty of jobs but no applicants!

"Las Vegas club members declare that firms in their town have actually been sending to Los Angeles for office employes to fill the places of those who have left the city or gotten married and given up work," Mrs. Bowman explains. "In a vain last effort, the club checked up on commercial high school graduates of the past three years. All were either working, or married and keeping house.

"Finally, desperate about their quota, the girls discovered one woman who wanted a job as cook. They placed her instantly with a newcomer who was wondering where in the world she was going to find help in a town where there were so few unemployed. The Las Vegas club therefore has one job to its credit, after all."

The Los Angeles club has found 273 jobs. Milwaukee reports 70. The record among smaller communities has been set by Pittsfield, Ill. The club there has contributed funds toward the building of a shoe factory which will employ 600 persons, 300 of whom, according to a promise made to the Business and Professional Women's Club, will be women.

Created New Openings

"The clubs have all co-operated with the CWA, the temporary employment committees and any similar agencies in their communities," says Mrs. Bowman. "They did not wait to find employers that were looking for workers, but surveyed local businesses and in many cases visualized brand-new jobs.

"Then they visited the firm-heads and sold their ideas. After that, they produced competent persons to fill the places. The keynote of the women who carried out this gigantic plan was faith. They believe in their country and in its ability to give everybody a chance to work and earn. That belief strengthened them to do what they did.

"They got many part-time jobs that we have not counted, and also assisted in bringing about the reemployment of many women who had been let off during the slump. Altogether, the total of women working again as the result of the campaign will probably be many thousands more than the original objective."

Hollywood Gossip

By HUBBARD KEAVY

Hollywood—The two best performances of the last year, consensus in Hollywood appears to be, were by Helen Hayes in "A Farewell to Arms" and by Charles Laughton in "Henry VIII."

Should they be awarded the goldplated statuettes of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, on March 16, it would be the second time Miss Hayes had been so honored and the first time a performance in a foreign picture had been considered so meritorious. ("The Sin of Madelon Claudet" won Miss Hayes the commendation of her fellow workers last year.)

Runners-up for the feminine acting honors, it is believed, probably will include May Robson ("Lady for a Day"); Billie Burke ("Dinner at Eight"); Katharine Hepburn ("Bill of Divorcement" or "Morning Glory" or "Little Woman" or all three) and Diana Wynyard ("Cavalcade").

Others In Running

Among the men whose performances are considered close seconds to Laughton's are Will Rogers ("State Fair"); Fredric March ("The Eagle and the Hawk"); and John Barrymore ("Reunion in Vienna"). Baby LeRoy, who crept away easily with the honors of "A Bedtime Story," should be given a gold teething ring by the academy.

The best achievement in directing may go to Frank Capra for "Lady for a Day," or to Frank Lloyd for "Cavalcade," or to Lowell Sherman for "Morning Glory," or to Frank Borzage for "A Farewell to Arms."

"Cavalcade" is considered by most in Hollywood to be in a class by itself as the "best picture" of the last year. Opinion is that it will get the most votes.

And of course, "The Three Little Pigs" will win the special short subjects award. It will have no competition.

'Home is the Sailor'

Greeted by a coast guard cutter, which had been looking for him during his unexplained 48-hour absence at sea, Warren William regretted having caused anyone worry, but most of all he disliked the reflection becalmed in the fog, he told the coast guardsman.

Mrs. William, who reported her husband "missing," cast the "reflection."

Daily Mission Services Draw Large Crowds

Unusual attendance is marking the preaching mission being conducted in the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city. Music is playing an important part in the services. A large chorus choir directed by the pastor leads in the congregational singing and the enthusism as well as the deep devotional spirit prevades the audiences each evening.

Mrs. Edward Lucas and Miss Margaret Compher are presiding at the organ while Mrs. W. J. Anthony is playing the piano, each being used in connection with congregational singing.

The pastor, the Rev. Ross W. Stoakes, is using as a general theme, "Missing Our Chance." Sunday morning the theme was "Missing Our Chance of Being Wise in Finding Jesus." Other themes used have been: "Missing Our Chance in Knowing Big Business Through Jesus." "Missing Our Chance in Seeing Jesus Cast Out Devils." "Missing Our Chance for a Defiant Faith Through Jesus Christ."

The interest in these themes has been manifest in the close attention given the speaker and the constantly increasing attendance.

The public is cordially invited to all these services.

A TELEPHONE PAYS ITS WAY

There are fewer lonely days and dreary evenings for those who have telephone service. It brings you the voices of friends and family, and takes yours to them. And when impromptu "get-togethers" are arranged, those who can be reached by telephone usually are the ones invited.

A telephone is worth its cost in social advantages alone. Also, it helps find employment, saves trips to the stores or elsewhere in stormy weather, and is PRICELESS PROTECTION in emergencies, enabling you to summon doctor, firemen or police instantly, day or night.

Now Ease Neuritis in Few Minutes

1. ..CAN'T GO ANY FURTHER THIS NEURITIS IN MY BACK IS ALMOST KILLING ME....
WAIT—LETS GET SOME BAYER ASPIRIN AT THAT DRUG STORE...2 TABLETS WILL KNOCK THAT PAIN BEFORE OUR NEXT APPOINTMENT...
2. LATER —
THAT IS AN ORDER! AND I REALLY OWE IT TO BAYER ASPIRIN!
YES, SIR! BAYER ASPIRIN DOES THE JOB FAST!

For Quick Relief Say "BAYER Aspirin" When You Buy

Here is quicker relief from pain—the fastest safe relief, it is said, ever known. This is due to a scientific discovery by which BAYER Aspirin starts "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass here tells the story. A Bayer tablet starts to disintegrate or dissolve—go to work—almost instantly. This means quick relief from pain—fewer lost hours from headache, neuritis, rheumatism. And safe relief. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

When you buy, see that you get the genuine Bayer Aspirin. The best way is never to ask for aspirin by the name "aspirin" alone. But if you want Bayer Aspirin's quick relief always to say "BAYER Aspirin."

WHY BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST
Drop a Bayer Tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches bottom, it has started to disintegrate.
What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Besides the school program the committee will request that flags be displayed on municipal and school buildings, that the library feature books on the American army and allied subjects, and that merchants use patriotic window displays featuring Army Day.

No Free Reading, Authors' Slogan In North Europe

Stockholm (AP)—The author as an individual who has a right to think about money and not as just a "poetic figure in funny looking trousers" is getting his share of attention in the Swedish press.

For Scandinavian authors are taking steps to obtain larger financial returns through organization to control production and by agitation against "free reading" of books at public and other loan libraries.

In Denmark, it is reported, the Danish Authors' League is considering a policy of letting the individual author decide whether his writings are to be distributed through free libraries. On the first page the author would announce "Not to be loaned to the public through libraries."

The legal right of the author to do this has already been tested in Denmark. When a library failed to observe such an inscription by Peter Freuchen, the matter was carried to the highest court, which decided that it was Freuchen's privilege to control the distribution of his book.

Poor Vision Caused Bad Auto Accident

Investigation into the accident in which Milton Cousineau sustained a fractured skull and broken left arm when the car he was driving crashed into a county snow plow on Lakeshore drive early Sunday morning shows the cause due to poor visibility owing to mist along the lakeshore which fogged windshields. Companions of Cousineau stated that the latter was driving with his head out of the window as there was practically no visibility through the windshield.

The Cousineau car is believed to have struck the side of the plowshare, running up the incline which lifted the car from the road. LeRoy Vertz and William Generou, passengers in the ill-fated car, stated that they did not believe that the Cousineau car had passed over to the left of the center stripe, but that the wings o fthe plow extended beyond. The plow, they stated, had both headlights burning but had no other lights of any kind. No evidence was found that the youths had been drinking.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, March 20 (AP)—Moves toward industrial peace were accompanied by a quick revision of stock prices today as the market, with characteristic vigor, rallied during the last hour after a rather dismal performance in previous trading. Bonds also firmed and commodity quotations hardened.

Presidential intervention in the automobile dispute following the White House warning to the railroad men found the market trying to recover from an abrupt slump just before noon. Shorts scurried to cover when it appeared that the labor skies might be clearing, and their repurchases, together with other buying, brought a rapid upturn that established general net gains of 1 to 2 points or more. There was some late profit-taking but final prices were near the highs in a turnover of 1,586,640 shares. The average improvement of 1.7 points almost erased yesterday's loss.

Motor issues responded briskly. Chrysler and General Motors rising about 2 points each and Nash and Hudson more than a point. Rails had early moments of sogginess but strengthened with other groups. The market was closed when it became known that the carrier managements had agreed to a continuation of the present wage scale; the employes' reaction to this proposal was not immediately known. On the whole, Wall Street has been viewing the railroad situation more calmly than that in the automotive industry.

Silver and the stocks associated with it were firm, speculative sentiment having been obviously bolstered by house passage of the Dies bill. U. S. Smelting gave the most consistent performance; it was up nearly 2 net. Steels, which had been depressed by the prospect of smaller business in the event of a motor strike, were fairly liberal gainers, though National Steel eased.

CHICAGO GRAINS

Chicago, March 20—Lively upturns of prices in the last few minutes of trading today more than offset earlier wavering of the grain markets.

End-of-the-day buying which brought about higher prices for wheat was associated both with increased likelihood of a settlement of automotive labor troubles and with satisfaction expressed by market trade leaders regarding President Roosevelt's approval of the new national code for grain exchange dealings.

Leading unofficial authorities in the grain trade said the code provision for 10 to margin requirements would assure safety and stability of the market price structure. It was declared to be sound policy that individuals interested in excessive lines of grain should put up margins in proportion.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top level, ¼–5-4 above yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to 3-8 higher; oats 1 3-8–5-8 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17 cents.

Corn and oats were governed almost by the action of wheat.

Provisions advanced with grains, despite downturns of hog values.

BY VICTOR EUBANK
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, March 20 (AP)—After drifting irregularly lower in the early dealings today, bonds stiffened in the final hour, along with stocks, when it was learned that President Roosevelt had intervened in the threatened automobile strike.

While gains of fractions to around a point were scattered throughout the list at the close, the average for 60 domestic corporate issues finished unchanged at 85.1. Owing to a substantial expansion of activity in the federal section, however, transfers totaled $19,720,000, par value, against $14,065,000 yesterday.

There was a turnover of around $8,200,000 in U. S. government securities compared with an aggregate of $1,700,000 in the previous session. All of the Liberties and the majority of the treasuries showed net declines of 2-32nds to 9-32nds of a point. The heaviest trading was in treasury 3 1-8s which equalled their high of the year with a gain of 4-32nds of a point. Two of the 3 3-8s were also up slightly.

In the corporation categories, gainers included some bonds of Alleghany Corp., American Rolling Mill, Chesapeake Corp., St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, Delaware & Hudson, Erie, Goodrich, Goodyear, International Telephone, M-K-T, Nickel Plate, Postal Telegraph, Shell Pipe Line and Shell Union Oil, Studebaker, Texas Corp., U. S. Rubber, Vanadium and Western Union.

New York, March 20 (AP)—The adjourned annual meeting of Cuban American Sugar Co., scheduled for today, was postponed until April 24.

Freight loadings of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy last week totaled 21,081 cars against 19,926 the week before and 15,054 a year ago.

Daniel E. Woodhull, president of American Bank Note Co., told stockholders at their annual meeting today that domestic orders received in the first two and a half months this year were 50 per cent ahead of 1933. Total business, including that of foreign subsidiaries, showed a 30 per cent increase. He indicated that the resumption of dividends on the common stock was not being considered at this time.

Directors of Phillips Petroleum Corp. today declared a 25 cent dividend, payable May 14 to stock of record April 12. A similar payment was made February 15.

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey has made an advance of 10 cents a barrel in grade "C" bunker oil. The new prices are $1.30 ex-terminal in New York, Baltimore, Boston and Norfolk; $1.25 ex-terminal at Charleston, and $1.15 at gulf coast ports. The advance is effective tomorrow.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"We named her Sarah for Aunt Sadie, but we're going to call her Sally."

U. P. Briefs

Iron Mountain—C. Walter Seiler, former Kingsford village manager and recently employed by the CWA as surveyor on the sewer creek drainage project, has accepted the position of manager of the Champion Sand and Gravel company, effective immediately.

Branch plants of the company are located at Beechwood, Champion, Loretto and Iron Mountain, the latter being situated on highway US-2 a short distance north of the city limits. Manufacture of tile piping was begun at the Iron Mountain plant some time ago, in addition to other activity there.

TO FINISH BREAKWATER

Menominee—Alfred A. Henes, chairman of the Menominee Harbor Commission returned this morning from Lansing and Washington where he spent the past week in efforts to obtain an extra allotment of CWA funds to finance completion of the Menominee Beach breakwater.

Prospect of obtaining the desired CWA funds is not particularly bright, Mr. Henes reported today, but he expressed hope that efforts of sponsors of the breakwater would be successful in obtaining an allotment of federal funds for the work in some amount, if not in an amount sufficient to finance all the work remaining undone.

The county civil works administration may be able to provide sufficient CWA labor for the construction, but an allocation of approximately $10,000 to finance purchase of materials for all CWA projects in the county until the wind-up of CWA activities on March 31 will be sadly inadequate, as it would not care for even the material needs of the breakwater project.

JORDAN STUDENT INJURED

Menominee—Orlin Zinn, 21 Jordan College student living at 1520 Michigan avenue, suffered cuts on the face and head at 1:50 a. m. Saturday when the Ford coupe in which he was riding struck a pole on Ogden avenue in front of the Richard A. Lemieux residence. Zinn's head broke the windshield.

The car was driven by Dale Judd, 19, Jordan student, living at 1810 Stephenson avenue, who escaped injury. The car, owned by F. S. Zawasky, also a Jordan student, got out of control when leaving the bridge approach enroute from Marinette. The car was much damaged.

FAIR GRANTED MONEY

Iron River—Virtual assurance that the Iron County Agricultural society will be able to hold the 1934 fair at the Iron River grounds was given by the board of supervisors at a meeting in Crystal Falls Saturday when $3,000 was appropriated for the exposition.

A delegation of directors of the fair association appealed to the supervisors for an appropriation for the event, which was not held last year because of lack of funds. A. E. McCornock, secrtary-treasurer of the fair, was spokesman.

WILL ADDRESS C-C

St. Ignace—Clyde A. Saunders, president of the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce, and Col. Roger M. Andrews, president of the Mackinac State Park Commission, will be principal speakers at the annual St. Ignace C-C dinner to be held about the middle of April. Both have accepted invitations to speak.

Maria, who came running from the kitchen. She heard the tale and shook her head also. No, they had seen no such gentleman. And God knew them to be speaking the truth.

They had had few American guests that season. Maria had an excellent memory and never forgot those whom she saw. No, no! They had seen no such gentleman. Pablito forgot caution and asked for Noyes by name. Again the heads shook. Maria opened the thick register, displaying its grimy pages. The Senor, if he wished, could see —

She fluttered the leaves. There was name after name written there. Pablito read them over but nowhere was Noyes' signature.

Something seemed to tighten at Pablito's heart and for an instant he felt faint. The proprietor suggested a glass of wine and Maria ran to get it. Pablito thanked her, smiling with an effort. That smile made her abandon her dreams of one of the players of Jai alai and dream of Pablito for months thereafter. She thought of him as the blond one with the tortured blue eyes whose lips had trembled a second when she said, "No, Senor. No such guest as you describe has been within our house."

Leaders On Curb Point Late Rally With Big Board

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, March 20 (AP)—The curb market rallied smartly in the last hour today and many of the utility and industrial leaders closed fractions to around a point net higher. Some specialties, however, failed to respond.

Initial quotations were improved but irregularity followed until the late upturn. Trading was dull except for brief flurries, transactions approximating 204,000 shares compared with 286,000 yesterday.

Chicago Sox Have Fighting Spirit For 1934

CLUB IS BACKED BY MANY 'IFS'

Big First Sacker Has Much Responsibility For Mere Rookie

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Pasadena, Calif., March 20 (AP)—Chicago's hustling White Sox are going somewhere along the American League trail but just how far may depend on a number of baseball uncertainties. Possibly Lew Fonseca's athletes will not reach their first division objective but the manager with the tuneful voice has developed an inspiring spirit in the team and the Sox promise to come out fighting.

Henry (Zeke) Banura, big first sacker from the Texas League, carries more responsibility than most rookies. Since Manager Fonseca, a good first baseman in any league, was hurt last year the Chicago Americans have been out of first basemen. Then big Zeke brought his heavy bat on from Dallas.

If He Can Hit

If Banura can hit major league pitching the stock of the Sox will move up. The New Orleans lad has been hitting well enough in the spring games and if he maintains the pace when the pitchers begin to bear down there will be great joy on Chicago's south side.

In an active training season Fonseca has spent much of his time watching his young pitchers and if one or two of the rookies make places for themselves the managerial task will be made easier. The seasoned moundsmen, led by George Earnshaw, will be satisfactory but they need help. Earnshaw reported in good condition and has shown worlds of stuff in the workouts. No one in camp doubts the pride of Swarthmore will win a lot of ball games.

Whitlow Wyatt, the former Detroit Tiger, is in great shape. Wyatt has a blazing fast ball and should fulfill the promise he has shown in his brief major league career. Ed Durham is another pitcher who should win his share of games. Ted Lyons, Sam Jones and Milton Gaston are veterans with a lot of good pitching left in their right arms. Incidentally all the pitching for the Sox will be done by right handers.

Few Fielding Changes

Lee Stine, former San Francisco Seal, will get a chance to show his wares under fire, and John Pomorski, up from Montreal, and Phil Gallivan, graduated from Buffalo, may do something. Two tall flingers, Joe Heving and Paul Gregory, may help.

Few changes will be made in the infield and outfield. Bonura will take over the first base chores and Minter Hayes at second, Luke Appling at short and the irrepressible Jimmy Dykes at third. The infield combination may not be the best in the American League but it is far from the worst.

Al Simmons, Mule Hass and Ever Swanson probably will get the starting call in the outfield but two fast recruits from the Pacific Coast League, Bernie Uhalt and Stanley (Frenchy) Bordagary, may cause uncomfortable moments for Haas and Swanson. Uhalt and Bordagary have a question mark after their hitting in fast company but they can carry the mail.

Infield replacements consist of the seasoned Red Kress and Joe Chamberlin, a big boy who did not bother to report last spring but has made up for his absence in full measure this year. He has been understudying Duke and can play short even better than third. Manager Fonseca, too, can give a helping had to any ailing athlete in the infield.

At first glance the team seems none too strong behind the bat. Mervin Shea from St. Louis and John Pasek from Detroit are having a mild battle with Morgan Snyder, promoted from Topeka, and Harold (Muddy) Ruel has stepped into the picture to complicate it further. Ruel, a great hand with pitchers, will be something of a catcher-coach but it would not be surprising to see him do more catching than coaching.

Central Baseball League Organizers Meet In Ft. Wayne

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 20 (AP)—Plans for reorganization of the Central baseball league will be discussed at a meeting to be held here next Saturday.

Cities included in a tentative roster for the league are Fort Wayne and Terre Haute, Ind., Springfield, Bloomington and Peoria, Illinois, and Grand Rapids, Flint and Bay City, Michigan.

Lansing and Muskegon, Mich., also may have representatives at the meeting with a view to obtaining franchises in case other proposed members fail to complete their plans for clubs.

Houghton, Mich., March 20 (AP)—The James MacNaughton hockey trophy tonight was awarded to the Calumet Wolverines, victors over the Hancock Hawks, 6 to 2, in a two game series. The Wolverines won the first game, but lost tonight, 2 to 1, their first defeat in the cup play-offs.

Lands Huge Sail With Two and a Half Ounce Rod

By NEA Service

Long Key, Fla.—Using only a 2½-ounce bamboo rod, Nat Jerlaw, Chicago angler recently set a record when he found and landed a huge sailfish weighing 55 pounds.

Jerlaw

Jerlaw's feat was all the more unusual in that he used a six-thread line, having a wet test of 16 pounds, in his battle with the huge fish. Even with his light tackle, and the fish leaping clear of the water eight times, the Chicagoan landed the monster after a 12-minute battle.

Doings In New York

BY PAUL HARRISON

New York—An earnest young musician, only a year or so removed from the leadership of a college orchestra, has found it necessary to live in one of those low-priced theatrical hotels which line the side streets off mid-town Broadway. Finds the noise rather disquieting, but he never had a really nerve-shattering experience until late the other night as he was trying to compose himself for sleep.

Floating through the thin partition from the next room came slow, ill-timed, tinkling notes barely recognizable as "My country, 'tis of thee." Sounded as though someone were playing a doll's piano with one finger. It got to the ". . . of thee I sing" part and hit a very sour note. Started over again and got still further off the tune. This happened at least a dozen times, maddeningly slow and terribly off key. Finally the shuddering listener couldn't stand it any longer. Threw on a dressing gown, rushed out and knocked at the door. No answer. But it was slightly ajar, and the light was on, so he looked in.

Only occupans of the room were two little fluffy dogs. One was standing before a small xylophone, poking dispiritedly at a series of levers that operated it. The instrument was draped in purple velvet embroidered with the legend: "Case's Clever Canines."

SOLVES RENT PROBLEM

There's a good deal of gallantry connected with the bold fronts put up by out-of-luck Broadwayites. Some of them will go hungry rather than admit they're broke. Many an actress, wearied by a day's round of the booking offices, will spend each evening sewing and washing and pressing her single outfit of street clothes in preparation for the next day's search. Vaudeville people and musicians never will confess that they haven't a lucrative engagement in sight. And then there are the booking agents—three or four of them—who haunt the lobby of the old Strand theater building.

These men have the smallest "offices" in the world—telephone booths, and public booths at that. Each has cards printed identifying himself as "Actors' Agent, Strand Theater Building, Office Hours, 3 to 5 p. m." There's also the telephone number of one of the booths. Each afternoon these fellows stand in a booth for two hours and receive their calls. There are quite a lot of calls, too, from out-of-work actors who want to inquire whether anything has turned up.

Meeting new clients is a little more difficult. When a friend says he's going to send someone around next day the agent asks what the prospect looks like, then waits in the lobby until the fellow comes in. Dashing up to him he says: "You're Harry Glotz, aren't you? Sorry I can't ask you up to the office, but I'm just rushing out on a big deal. Maybe I can get you in on it. Gimme your name and address and some dope on your experience, and I'll handle you. Here's my card. Call me up any day between 3 and 5 and I'll tell you what's going on."

The new client goes out, convinced that he has put himself into the hands of a live-wire agent. And the agent goes back to his phone booth.

GOOD FOR THE NERVES

A lady author, who wouldn't like to have her name mentioned (in this story, at least), confides that she has found a new source of fiction material. A few months ago, thinking she was on the verge of a nervous collapse, she went to a psychoanalyst. It turned out that there was nothing wrong with her nerves, but the doctor's exhaustive questioning did bring to her mind some former experiences which provided her with two short stories. They sold for ten times the cost of the treatment.

By following instructions of the State College of Agriculture, a Kentucky farmer installed waterworks in his house, barn and poultry yard at a cost of $40.

Germans have invented a piano that can be transported on the back of a horse, its keyboard within playing reach of the rider.

PRACTICE ROUND BAD FOR JONES

Top Money at Augusta Is $1,500; Runyan Is Favorite

Augusta, Ga., March 20 (AP)—Bobby Jones, paired with Ed Dudley, took a sound lacing today from Paul Runyan, the professional ace of the winter season, and Horton Smith. The Jones-Dudley combination was beaten six and five.

Runyan, regarded as the professionals' leading contender in the Master's invitation tournament starting Thursday, and Smith, New York pro, had 71's, one under par, while Jones and Dudley, Augusta pro, had 76's. The little White Plains, N. Y., star played the second nine in 34 strokes. Jones was even par coming in after straying to a high 40 on the front nine.

Bobby appeared tired and was off line with approaches. He sliced his drive into the woods on the ninth and failed to sink a sizeable putt during the round. Today was the last available for practice rounds, for tomorrow most of the players are entered in the two ball foursome competitions, a preliminary attraction to the big four-day medal play tournament.

Jones will play with Ross Somerville, the Toronto star who won the U. S. amateur in 1932, in the two-ball event. Other combinations include Bill Mehlhorn and Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn; Johnny Golden, Noroton, Can., and Billy Burke, Cleveland; Leo Diegel, Philadelphia, and MacDonald Smith, Nashville; Runyan and Horton Smith; Frank Walsh and Harry Cooper of Chicago; and George Dunlap, Jr., national amateur champion from Pinehurst, and Emmett French, Southern Pines, N. C., pro.

Johnny Farrell arrived today and Walter Hagen and Billy Burke, other rivals of Jones for years, wired they would come tonight or tomorrow. The cash prizes announced today list $1,500 for the winning professional. Second place will be worth $800, third position $600, and fourth $500. The $5,000 will be distributed among the low dozen players.

Jones reiterated an earlier statement that, should he finish among the leaders, he would accept none of the prizes.

Plans for playing all tournament competition in the afternoons were discarded today and decision was made to start around 10 a. m. A field of approximately 65 will play.

Flashlight S. O. S. Signals Aid Ships

Bremen (AP)—Flashlight SOS signals, visible at a distance of 30 miles, are being tried out on the North sea by Karl Poggenses, an engineer.

A small parachute, shot by a rocket to a height of aboue 250 feet, carries two rotating lights which, while slowly descending, flash SOS signals for 15 seconds.

As the off-drift of the parachute was only 450 feet even during stormy weather, the unsinkable device can be picked up again and used repeatedly. The silk of the parachute is waterproof.

The device is to be used when the wireless of an endangered ship fails.

Tree Cathedral May Close

Because a woman visitor cut and carried away a generous amount of white heather from the famous "tree cathedral" near Oban, Scotland, M. Mackay, the owner, may close it to the public. The beautiful place, planned by Mackay and his daughter, was visited recently by Sir Harry Lauder, and the attendant publicity attracted crowds. The entrance to the cathedral is formed by two Scotland yews, trimmed into an arch. On each side of the aisle inside are 75 varieties of heath and heather with yews planted at intervals to form pillars. The walls consist of a double row of chestnuts and yews. The choir is row upon row of golden yews, and the altar usually is planted with stocks. The chapter to surrounded by ordinary and golden yew placed alternately. Inside is a plot of grass relieved by pieces of fosilized wood from Florida.

In Camp With Big Leaguers

APPEALS TO LANDIS

Biloxi, Miss., Mar. 20 (AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, is going to write Judge Landis to find out what he can do about Cliff Bolton, third-string catcher who has refused to come to terms.

"I want to take what action I can to prevent finding some way to put himself on the voluntary retired list," Griffith explained. "He must not be allowed to get away with that."

He said he didn't want to use the holdout catcher as trading material because that would be a victory for Bolton.

CHARLEY FEARS JINX

Lakeland, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Ball players are notoriously superstitious — and Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers and the star member of his cast, Charley Gehringer, are no exception to the rule.

Mickey and Charley both want the number "2" on their uniforms, both because they had that number through the years in which they rose to stardom.

Both players fear bad luck will overtake them if they use any other number, and Manager Cochrane says "Charley can take number "4" because it's always given second basemen, and all will be well."

But Charley doesn't think all will be well. He doesn't want any number "4." He insists on his old number "2"—and there the matter stands.

PIRATES TAKE CUBS

Los Angeles, March 20 (AP)—With Darrell Blanton, 25, rookie hurler from the St. Joseph club of the Western league doing heads up mound work in the pinches, the Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the Chicago Cubs 7 to 5 at Wrigley field today.

Blanton struck out Chuck Klein, powerhouse to the Cub attack, with a man on second base and two runs needed to tie the score in the ninth inning. In the four innings he worked Blanton fanned six Cubs.

The score:
Pittsburgh 300 010 210—7 9 0
Chicago .. 120 010 001—5 11 2
Birkhoger, Blanton, and Grace. Veltman; Ward, Tinning and Phelps, Taft.

CHANCE FOR CATCHER

Miami Beach, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Young Francis Healey, candidate for the first string catching job with the New York Giants which was left in an uncertain state by the illness of Gus Mancuso, came in for a lot of extra coaching today as the world champions went through two long drills.

YAWKEY ARRIVES

Sarasota, Fla., March 20 (AP)—There was great rejoicing in the Boston Red Sox camp today, first over the arrival of President Tom Yawkey, who drove 600 miles in less than 12 hours to get his first look at his 1934 team in action, and second because of the impressive performances of right-hander Henry Johnson and southpaws Fritz Ostermueller and Herb Pennock in batting practice.

This trio, after being slowly nursed along by Manager "Bucky" Harris, cut loose and looked great.

RUTH HITS TRIPLE

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The New York Yankees ran their total of grapefruit league victories to four straight over the Boston Braves today, winning 6 to 5. A four run attack in the first inning, featured by Babe Ruth's triple, all but settled the issue early.

Southpaws Harry Smythe and Marvin Duke held the Braves to nine hits while the Yanks touched Swetonic, Cantwell and Barrett for 11.

The score by innings:
Boston (N) 002 002 010—5 9 2
N. York (A) 400 000 20x—6 11 1
Swetonic, Cantwell, Barrett and Spohrer; Smythe, Duke and Dickey, Keis.

PHILLIES BEAT CARDS

Bradenton, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Jimmy Wilson, erstwhile catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, today led his Philadelphia National league club in a 12 to 7 exhibition game victory over the Redbirds.

Paul Deal, young brother of "Dizzy," also a Card right hander, pitched the first three innings for St. Louis and held the Phillies scoreless. Philadelphia made five of their runs off Jim Mooney in the sixth.

GIRL BLUFFS DODGERS

Fort Myers, Fla., March 20 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hit against Babe Didrikson, famous girl athlete of Texas, for one inning today, failed to get a hit off her or score a run, but recovered in time to beat out the Philadelphia Athleticsw 4 to 2 in an exhibition game.

At a loss for a girl athlete to oppose Miss Didrikson, star of the womens track and field games in the 1932 Olympics, the Dodgers managed to equalize the situation with one of their extra special performances, Miss Didrikson walked Danny Taylor after getting a 3 and 2 count on him, nicked Johnny Frederick with a fast one, and then threw Joe Stripp a slow curve he hit into a triple play.

Score by innings:

EASY FOR TIGERS

Lakeland, Fla., March 20 (AP)—Collecting 16 hits in a free-slugging spree, the Detroit Tigers today defeated the House of David baseball team 13 to 1.

The Tigers turned on the Davidites with all the fury they had been storing up since Sunday's defeat at the hands of the Boston Red Sox. One of the Tiger scores came on a home run by Reiber while Walker, Shiver, Davis and Howell came through with doubles.

The House of David was able to collect but four safeties from the successive offerings of Sewell, Goldstein and Hamlin, the Tiger moundsmen.

The score:
House of David ..... 001 000 000— 1 4 1

Pinehurst, N. C., March 29 (AP)—Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., and Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., were victims of upsets in the first round of match play in the 37th annual women's North and South golf tournament here today.

Charlotte Glutting, New Jersey star and medalist in yesterday's qualifying round, advanced to the second round by defeating Mrs. Karl Scheidt, of Philadelphia, 4 and 3.

Tomorrow Miss Glutting meets Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, District of Columbia titleholder, who eliminated Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Bryan Maur, Pa., 2 and 1.

Booster Kegelers Get Day At Peoria

Peoria, March 20 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress tournament alleys were again given over to booster teams tonight after a day which brought no change in leaderships of any divisions.

Tourney officials utilized the quiet session to calculate the number of pins it will take to win first place in the four groups. A consensus set 1994 as the probable winning total in the all events, 3109 in the five man team class, 1387 in the doubles and 736 in the singles.

On the basis of these figures plenty of bowling is due yet on the tourney alleys before the 34th annual session closes April 9. None of the consensus figures have been reached thus far.

There has been a decrease of 8,000,000 in the number of horses and mules in the United States during the last 15 years.

C&NW ACQUIRES 'SCHLEISINGER'

Long-Term Lease of 52-Mile Line Approved by I. C. C.

Acquisition of the Escanaba, Iron Mountain, and Western Railroad by the Chicago and North Western Railway Company, under a long-term lease, was approved by the interstate commerce commission last week.

The Chicago - Northwestern owns all of the capital stock and outstanding bonds of the Escanaba road, the commission pointed out. No objections to the lease were filed.

A similar lease was in force from May 15, 1891, to July 1, 1920, the ICC pointed out. Since expiration of this lease, the C. and N. W. has continued operation of the Escanaba road under the terms of the expired lease.

The chief purpose of the execution of a new lease is to meet the requirements of the Public Works Administration, which is to make a loan to the C. and N. W. for purchase of new equipment.

The Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Western railroad is known to Escanaba residents as the "Schleisinger road." It was built back in the eighties by a syndicate headed by August Schleisinger, Milwaukee capitalist, who owned mining properties in the vicinity of Metropolitan, Iron Mountain and Crystal Falls. The Schleisinger road extends now from Escanaba to Antoine, just outside Iron Mountain, a distance of 52 miles.

Newberry Village Park Is Suggested

New projects for public improvements are being suggested by local citizens. Several in conversation with Press representatives have mentioned the need of a village park aside from the place now used as a tourist park at the west end of Truman avenue. A grove of trees which were once a part of the local forest has been used for a recreational park for many years and a few years ago was put into condition for the use of travelers. The result is that the local people have no park and get little use of it because of strangers with their tents and cars.

M. E. Buermann some years ago presented the village with a plot of ground southwest of town. Some of this has a good growth of trees and is soil of good drainage. The suggestion coming from several of the local men is that this be utilized as a tourist park. A water line now serves the cemetery and could easily be tapped for the new park. Trees from near-by woods could be set out, not in rows, but to continue the natural stand of timber, and the place would in a few years be an asset to the community. Now it is not particularly good to look at and is not being used.

Property owners living near the present park are not anxious to drive the tourist out but they would be glad of the removal of the park. The village park could stand a lot of work, also. One of the local physicians has suggested that the park be "civilized" to the extent of putting walks and driveways through it, grading the ground and setting out shrubs on the edges and in the open places. A pond where brook and brown trout could be kept, and planted with local water plants would cost little and would add much to the park, this physician suggested.

Streets and Boulevards

The grass plots of Truman avenue could stand planting and the street should be continued for another block west, many have suggested. The street has not been in good condition for many years although it is the oldest of the residential streets and has many of the finer homes along it. Many other of the streets in the village are also in bad condition. Newberry avenue is in line for a pavement and it is believed that it will be attended to during the summer as this street is the main line through the town and the hard surface will continue both west to the cemetery and north to the Four Mile corner.

Planting of the school grounds, vines and a few shrubs on the grounds of the Community building and something or another for the frontage of the county garage have also been suggested. The court-house and sheriff's residence have long been planted. Harry Young being responsible for its care and planting. The conservation headquarters has also been much improved, with lawns, wide gravel drives and evergreen planting. Work was done last year on the grounds of the state police headquarters, although this is privately owned. But the first group of buildings presented to the eye of the visitor coming in from the west is the county garage and offices. These are behind a high board fence and the space between the fence and the highway is largely used as a parking place. It has been suggested that some less conspicuous place be found for the parking and that the place be used for planting and perhaps vines. None of these projects would engage many men, it is true; but they would call for but little outlay for materials and would certainly improve the appearance of the town.

THE SENIOR GIFT

The picture will be ready for unveiling and presentation by the class at the coming commencement exercises.

MAY INCREASE TEACHERS

Iron River—Teachers and other school employes will get salary increases for the 1934-1935 term, if the plans of the board of education materializes.

The budget was tentatively outlined at a special meeting Saturday night. It was voted to expend $108,000 during the next school year if the county tax allocation commission fixes at eight mills the schools' share of money under the 15 mill tax amendment.

The budget was to have been presented to the county commission today in Crystal Falls. Other school districts, according to reports, planned to submit budgets calling for more funds.

Consul, Chassell Native, Takes Pets To Moscow

Moscow, March 20 (AP)—Bringing a prize-winning chicken, two cats and a dog, along with 17 pieces of luggage, Angus I. Ward of Chassell, Mich., arrived in Moscow today after a 12-day trip from Tientsin to take up his duties as United States consul.

He was accompanied also by his wife.

Ward, with a heavy black vandyke beard and wearing a brown beret, created a sensation among station officials when he alighted from the trans-Siberian express with perhaps the most startling array of "baggage" ever arriving in the Red capital, outside of a circus.

Further surprise was caused at the Hotel Savoy in which the Wards took up temporary headquarters in a suite of two rooms and bath, occupied also by their four pets.

Privately the manager raised his hands in disapproval, but he greeted the couple with bland smiles as the miniature menagerie was taken upstairs.

"We simply could not leave them behind, they mean too much to us," said Ward, smiling.

The couple, who have been in Tientsin seven years, call their angora cat "Shira," which is mongolian for "yellow;" their Siamese cat "Blackie;" their Korean hen—one year old—"Skippy" and their full grown Alsatian shepherd dog "Knapei," which is Chinese for "bottoms up."

All four arrivals traveled with the Wards in their compartment and they brought 60 fresh raw eggs as special food for the dog.

New Shoe Store Will Be Opened Thursday Morning

One of Escanaba's most attractive shops, the new Fillion shoe store, located at 910 Ludington street, will open its doors to the public on Thursday morning.

The shop with its attractive white walls and new fittings will feature a children's department which will be known as the "Kiddies' Corner."

This department is unusual in its furnishings which have been arranged to appeal to children. Nursery animals decorate the entrance to it, the seats, in bright red, have arms representing children's pets, and the upper ledge is similarly decorated, while an animated cartoon in which wooden reproductions of the animals move to entertain the children, forms a background.

A green carpeting covers the floor of the children's room, while the adults' department for men and women's shoes has tan drapery and carpeting of mulberry.

The store will be operated by Arthur F. Fillion, who is secretary-manager.

Filipino To Speak Here Early In April

Theodore E. Timario, native Philipino who has been conducting a series of lectures in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin cities, will speak before the senior high school assembly early in April. He will also deliver a talk before the Rotary club.

Mr. Timario is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, school of agriculture, and delivers a very interesting lecture disproving the presumption of the majority of Americans whose ideas of the Philippines are derived from the half-naked representations of current newsreels, that the natives of the islands are uncivilized.

Because of the fact that the present governor-general of the islands is a Michigan man and had been instrumental in the introduction of several important changes in the short time that he has held office, Mr. Timario is very pleased to speak before Michigan audiences. Shortly before his Escanaba appearance, Mr. Timario will speak before two audiences in Menominee.
